

Saiber Attorneys and Marsh & McLennan Agency Present a Seminar for Clients and Colleagues on Employment Issues

May 12, 2013

On May 7, 2013, Saiber attorneys Sean R. Kelly and Rina G. Tamburro along with Linda Coleman, Regional COO of Marsh & McLennan Agency, presented a 1.5 hour educational seminar at Saiber's Conference Center for clients and colleagues on employment issues. Saiber seminars are part of a continuing series of events geared to assist clients and friends of the firm with the application of law to their business goals.

The May 7th seminar entitled the "Pink Slip Polka," covered 3 critical issues for employers and in house counsels: (1) a ten step decision analysis on legal dismissal focused on reducing employment litigation; (2) monitoring employee electronic communications and social media policy and; (3) employment practices liability insurance and loss prevention. The seminar was attended by some 80 clients and contacts of both firms.

Saiber is a business to business law firm with 55 lawyers covering nearly every practice area, including estate and tax planning for individuals. For over 40 years, the firm has approached the practice of law with a dual purpose: to advocate tenaciously for clients in times of conflict, and offer guidance and advice on day-to-day matters in our role as trusted allies.
