

Jeremy Kleiman Testifies Before NYS Senate Gaming Committee on Potential Legalized Sports Betting

May 8, 2019

On May 8, 2019, Saiber Member Jeremy Kleiman testified before the New York State Senate Committee on Racing, Gaming and Wagering at a public hearing on sports betting in New York State.

Jeremy appeared on a panel on behalf of the iDevelopment and Economic Association (iDEA) to provide commentary as a member of industry operators. He was joined by senior executives from William Hill US, Scientific Games, and Fan Duel. The purpose of the public hearing was to gather testimony on the expansion of legal sports betting in New York, including the possibility of mobile sports betting.

Jeremy is a co-founder and director of iDEA, an industry association seeking to grow jobs and expand online interactive entertainment business in the United States through advocacy and education.
