

Trending Law Blog: Appeals Courts Consider Whether Elected Officials Can Block Critics on Social Media

April 9, 2019

In the latest post by Trending Law Blog, Rob Nussbaum provides an update on the President's appeal involving his use of Twitter and discusses a decision by a federal appeals court which held that elected officials cannot block their critics on social media platforms used to conduct government business.

To read the blog post, click here.